Notable Lessons Learned

BAMEs businesses are still geared towards setting up solely within the inner-city areas, and without doubts where most of their clientele are based, and access to easy shopping movements.

BAMEs businesses are also concentrated on retails, especially shops and retails of ethnic commodities.

BAMEs businesses lack the skills to deal with Inland Revenue on Taxes, NI, Customs Duties and or VAT were appropriate.

BAMEs businesses lack the skills to keep records, and or internal bookkeeping systems to facilitate end of year accounts.

BAMEs businesses still finds it difficult to access loan facilities to support growth and development.

BAMEs businesses regularly has problems with landlords and leases

BAMEs businesses lack the skills to communicate effectively with other business operators, especially in settling business matters.

Outstanding work this period?

2 new CIC companies were assisted to start up. Help include developing Constitution, Company registration, and policies

5 local organisations (voluntary & community) helped to make funding applications to Big Lottery, Police Commissioner's fund.

2 funding workshops funded by South West Community Foundation in support of local organisations, facilitated and managed by CEED

CEED represented a BAME in Employment Tribunal case with local Sainsbury, matter settled amicably.

Helped 2 existing businesses to address matters with Inland Revenue

Risks of Provisions & Financial Support

CEED is not funded to provide the services/activities itemised above. Rather, CEED derives small financial income from rents through CEED Members occupying units within the Ujima House Building. CEED is able to engage Business Consultants/Advisors, Mentors/Coach and other experts to provide expert services to BAMEs business owners, and new business entrants. Through the same measure, CEED engage Employment Advisors, and facilitators to support employment seekers.

Future Proposed Plans

CEED is planning to develop a BAME BUSINESS HUB, with provisions of Hot-Desking, small business units, conferencing centre, IT Hub for businesses and employment seekers. Ujima House is currently being discussed as possible hub for affordable housing and part commercial/business functions – CEED will aim to acquire units to expand its future objectives – or identify other potential sites. Presently, among such possible sites includes the ST GABRIEL'S ROAD, and UJIMA HOUSE.

Recommendations for Actions

- 1. Work collaboratively with Business West/Bristol Chamber of Commerce for import/export matters
- 2. BAMEs Business Tools to support owner managers in submitting tax returns, annual accounts, filing and more..
- 3. Create an pro bono database of BAMMEs Business experts to support BAMEs business operators.
